Coronavirus Destination Update

SRI LANKA

Sri Lanka has officially announced reopening for tourism on August 1, 2020 – allowing all countries and nations to visit them. Visitors are expected to bring a negative PCR test with them, and agree to have another test upon arrival, there is no quarantine period.

The government has called on the citizens to take on stringent measures based on health guideline as the Island nation has been able to flatten the spread of the virus. No active community clusters have been detected in the last month within the country.

The coronavirus case count in Sri Lanka now stands at 2,001 cases, with 1,562 recovered according to latest health ministry figures. 11 deaths are reported due to the virus.
